LONDON, January 26.

Extrast of a Letter from Paris, January 21.

"The new Year commences with an Account of the rigical Affair that has just happened to our Ambassa-cor at the Court of Naples: The Fact is this:

The Viscount de Choiseul, our faid Ambassador, un-The Viscount de Choiseul, our faid Ambassador, unhappily casting his tender Regard towards a young Lady of that Place, of a good Family, before engaged to the Count de Conitz, the Emperor's Ambassador, and taking Advantage of the Count's Absence, pressed this fair Italian Lady with the most ardent Professions of Love; and, to forward his Suit, overwhelmed her with Presents; but all in vain, the still proving inexorable. One Day, in Fit of Rage and Despair, he drew his Sword, and plunged it Three Times in her Body, some say the died on the Spot; others, that she is not dead, but mortally wounded. However, the King of Naples, informed of, this shocking. Scene, dispatched a Courier lither, and our King immediately ordered his faid Ambassador home, and he is since sent to the Bastile. This melancholy Transaction has so affected the Duke de Prassin, (the Viscount's Father) that he has been at the Point of Death with Grief on this sad Occasion, and is still unable to attend to any Busines; nor has he been at Court since the Beginning of the Year."

Extract of a Letter from Marfeilles, dated Jan. 16.
"We have received Information here of the fafe Arrival of Mr. Frazer at Algiers, where a Discovery has been lately made of a Conspiracy against the Dey. A Soldier, who was to have affassinated him, was found in the Palace with Five loaded Pisols; he would not discover any of his Accomplices and was strangled the discover any of his Accomplices, and was strangled the same Day."

By some late Advices from Paris, we are informed, that as soon as the Empress of Russia heard of the Dake of Courland's being imprisched in the Bastile, the immediately sent off an Express to her Ambassador at Paris, with Orders to leave the French Court; in consequence of which, his Excellency had packed up his Baggage, and was preparing to set off, when he received a second Express, not to depart till farther Orders; which, coming to the Knowledge of the French Ministry, they sent him Word, that as his Baggage was ready, he need not be at the Trouble of unpacking again; on which the Ambasador immediately set out for Petersburgh.

All the Answer the Court of Naples has thought proper to give to the Complaints of the Holy See, in relation to the Expulsion of the Jesuits has been verbally delivered by the Cardinal Orsin, its Minister at Rome, to the following Purpors, viz. "That every sovereign having a Right to drive from his Dominions Persons convicted of being the Engmies thereof, no other Means could be found of getting rid of those Fathers, than causing them to be escorted to the Excelling afficial State, since the Kingdom of Naples had no other thers, than causing them to be escorted to the Ecclesialical State, since the Kingdom of Naples had no other Frontiers; and that as to the Confication and Management of the Breefs of the Society, it no less belonged, by the same Right of Sovereignty, to the Royal Treasury.

A Letter from Warfaw, dated January 9, fays, "By some Letters just received, we are informed, that the pretended Czar Peter III. has been made Prisoner by the Turks in Dalmatia, and conducted to Constantinople.
